EXTORTION VICTIMS' FINAL RIDE

Abductor Kills Exec. Wife and Then Surrenders

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A young abductor who was paid $50,000 ransom by his wealthy boss shot the executive and his wife to death in their expensive car, then pleaded "Don't shoot!" before surrendering to authorities, the FBI says.

Slain were Sidney Gans, 64, owner of a prosperous paper bag company, and his 60-year-old wife, Lillian, who had been held hostage by the gunman. Authorities said the man taken into custody was an employee of Gans' firm, but they knew of no animosity between the two.

Police identified the abductor as Thomas Knight, 23, of Miami. He was charged with two counts of first-degree murder.

FBI Special Agent Ken Whittaker said of Gans: "He decided he wanted to get the money and turn it over to the gunman because he was afraid about his wife."

Gans rushed into a downtown Miami bank on Wednesday and told the bank president that his wife was being held by a gunman. He said he needed $50,000. The bank officer called the FBI and Whittaker and another agent rushed to the scene.

Whittaker said Gans told him the gunman was circling the block with Mrs. Gans in the couple's Mercedes-Benz.

The FBI arranged for surveillance of the car being driven by Mrs. Gans while the gunman held a semiautomatic carbine to her head, Whittaker said.

Gans placed the $50,000 in a paper bag, left the bank and was picked up by the abductor and Mrs. Gans. The three drove off.

Mrs. Gans was forced to drive to a lonely wooded area in southwest Miami. The abductor then shot each in the head and fled into the underbrush as police and agents closed in on him, authorities said.

Some 200 lawmen converged on the scene and for some five hours used helicopters, a small plane, tracker dogs and tear gas to flush the gunman from his swampy hideout.

Finally, Dade County Police Sgt. Russ Kubik almost stepped on him as a seven-man patrol edged its way through waist-high weeds after lobbing tear gas grenades into the undergrowth.

"He was burrowed into sandy soil on his side," said Kubik. "I thought he might be dead. But I put my gun to his head and said, 'get up, put your hands up.'"

"Don't shoot!" the man cried.

Police said they found nearby the $50,000 in ransom and the gun used to kill Gans and his wife.

Knight, a slim six-footer, was muddled and bruised when pulled from the underbrush. Police said he had sustained an injury to his right arm. He made no audible comment as he was manacled and hustled into a police car.

John Shapiro, husband of Gans' daughter Harriet, said the abductor was at the company office when Gans got there on Wednesday morning.

"Unfortunately, it appears that he (the abductor) meant to kill them all along," said Whittaker.

Friends described Gans as a rich, active sportsman. He was one of the founding trustees of Mount Sinai Hospital, one of the area's largest, and recently had been presented the Prime Minister's Silver Anniversary Medal for aid to Israel.

Makarios Seeking United Nations Help

LONDON (UPI)—Archbishop Makarios flew to New York today to address the United Nations, carrying assurances the British government will not recognize the military regime which ousted him as president of Cyprus.

"I was very satisfied with the talks I have had with the prime minister and the secretary of state," the black-robed prelate said before leaving heavily guarded Heathrow Airport. "I found a great degree of understanding, and I appreciate the British attitude on the situation in Cyprus.

"I appreciate their assurances that under no circumstances are they going to recognize the so-called new regime imposed by the junta of Greece upon the people of Cyprus."

David Ennals, minister of state at the Foreign Office, said he was seeing off Makarios as the "president of Cyprus."

"The talks have been extremely helpful and Britain will be keeping in close touch with him in New York," Ennals said.

Ennals said he would later hold "important" talks with U.S. Undersecretary of State Joseph Sisco. Sisco also scheduled talks with Turkish Prime Minister Bulent Ecevit.

Makarios planned to ask the U.N. Security Council to help him turn back Greek-led troops who ousted him as chief of state of the former British colony.

A British Royal Air Force plane flew the prelate-statesman from Malta to Britain Wednesday for talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Foreign Secretary James Callaghan.

British officials backed Makarios' demand for the ouster of 650 Greek officers commanding the Cypriot national guard. The officers engineered the coup in a bid for union of Cyprus and Greece.

The British officials made clear, however, London would use all diplomatic pressure available, but support for Makarios would fall short of military action.

Diplomats at the United Nations said a major question was how the international organization could enforce any decision to reinstate the archbishop as president.

Makarios, who told newsmen he barely escaped "out the back door" when the national guard attacked his palace in Nicosia, spent the night at a London hotel after his meetings.

Makarios told newsmen after his arrival in Britain that the coup "was organized by the Greek military regime" and has "created conditions which will lead to catastrophe."

He said he fled Cyprus because "I didn't want to fall into the hands of the Greek junta."

"Going into hiding was not the answer," he said. "I considered that out of Cyprus I would be able to help my people more effectively."

The tall, bearded Makarios said the national guard troops "tried to kill me by attacking the presidential palace with mortars and other weapons."

"The palace was demolished," he said. "They thought I was killed. As you see, I am alive."

No timetable exists for work on the project, which depends on the availability of aid. Section 8 of the contract states: "It is expressly understood and agreed that this agreement is contingent upon the availability of state and federal funds for the financing of the project."

Village Mayor Vernon "Joe" Benjamin and Town Supervisor A. Michael Schovel left little doubt that the future of the project depended on the availability of aid money.

"We have an antiquated system," Benjamin said. "It needs a complete overhaul, but we have no money. The state has mandated that we separate the storm drains from sewage collector lines, and we will do it if we get the money."

"Our work is done," Schovel said. "Now we have to hope we can get state and federal funds."

Schovel said he was happy over the contract signing, but it could have been done earlier said Wednesday he had not sooner. "Cooperation between the town and the present vilage administration is better than ever before, and I want this cooperation to continue," he said.

Augustus Brinnier of Brinnier and Larios, the village's consulting engineers, said a meeting has been set in the DEC Albany office for 9 a.m. on Tuesday, July 23, to discuss possible aid for the first phase of the three-phase program to update the village's collection and treatment system and bring in the Barclay Heights district. Under the first phase would be improvements to the Ripley Street and East Bridge Street pumping stations, work on the creek crossing lines, and work on the Dock Street gravity sewer. An estimated cost of $540,000.

The village was notified last year that it was 41st on a list of 131 municipal projects seeking state and federal aid. Only 29 of those projects on the list were scheduled to receive aid during the 1974 fiscal year. Brinnier said Wednesday he had not sooner. "Cooperation between the town and the present vil-

What Happened to the City's New Pool?

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

One of the more frequently heard questions around town as the summer settles into its "dog days" is "what ever happened to that new swimming pool at Dietz Stadium?"

Most people still refer to that (still) grassy acre or so off Joy's Lane as part of Dietz Stadium but in fact it is officially known as "Andretta Park" after the city family who offered to donate up to $200,000 for a swimming pool at that site.

The Common Council officially accepted the Andretta's offer on Nov. 10, 1972.

The city's application for state funds was approved by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation on June 14, 1973.

The state funded its share, meaning the project was fully funded since the Andretta money was already available, on Sept. 7, 1973. As approved by the state, it was to have cost $208,000.

The city has been working on plans for that new swimming pool since Sept. 7, 1973, ten months, and the question still remains, "what ever happened to that swimming pool at Dietz Stadium?"

Questions like that are directed at Mayor Francis R. Koenig, long an advocate of a swimming pool at Dietz Stadium—Koenig was in office only three months, when he announced construction of the pool as one of his goals on March 30, 1970—and who as recently as Oct. 12, 1973, said that specifications would be completed "within six weeks."

"I thought we could do it in six weeks, then," Koenig says now.

The fact of the matter is that specifications still haven't been completed, at least not to Koenig's satisfaction.

In fact, City Engineer Thomas Wickman, assisted by Jay Hogan of the engineer's office, drew up preliminary specifications for the pool as long ago as December of 1972 and final plans in December of last year.

The mayor reported in April of this year that he had met with Wickman, Superintendent of Recreation Andrew J. Murphy and James V. Andretta of the Andretta Foundation and that "the next step" would be for an "expert" to review Wickman's plans "to make sure we're getting the most pool for our dollars," according to Koenig.

The expert turned out to be one James Lundergard, a Long Island architect-engineer who the mayor says is a consultant on pool construction.

Several meetings were held with Lundergard, the last as recently as 10 days ago, with apparently more scheduled.

There are no specifications yet, the mayor says, "but since we've met with him (Lundergard) we've keyed in on some other areas."

It has now been decided that there will not be locker rooms at the pool. Rather, there will be a basket room.

It has still not been decided just what kind of pool will be built. The mayor and the Andrettas like the idea of sprayed concrete. "He'll (Lundergard) get back to us with his recommendations," Koenig said.

The mayor didn't say just when Lundergard would get back with his final specifications, but Koenig said the city was under a state mandated Dec. 31 (this year) deadline. If the city does not go to bid by then, the mayor indicated, the state will take back its $104,000 share of the cost.

The question was also raised as to time costing money, in that this project has been fully funded since September of last year and probably won't go to bid before Dec. 1. A conservative estimate on the impact of inflation is 20 per cent, raising the cost to close to $250,000. Lundergard's consulting fee is figured at nine per cent, raising the total cost to close to $275,000.

Nonetheless, Koenig doesn't see any problems with over-run. "I don't think it will come to that," he says, contending that by spending time with design it will ultimately save money.

Koenig doesn't think the planning period has been inordinately long either. "It is and it isn't," he said. "If you just go for a basic pool, it's one thing. We're putting in stuff now so it won't cost more later."

Some of the "stuff" Koenig refers to includes a design which will permit the pool to be enclosed at some later date and equipment to heat the pool.

Does Koenig feel criticism is valid which suggests that he deliberately delayed the construction of the pool for next year, an election year, when he is expected to be running again?

Not at all. "I feel we've worked on this with all due speed to get a dollar's worth for every dollar spent by our taxpayers, the mayor said."

FEMALE FARRIER—Sandy Klepp, 27, the "village smithy" of nearby rural Monee, near Chicago, hammers a horseshoe into shape for a riding horse, Miss Klopp, who became a licensed horseshoer (farrier) two years ago, is 5-ft. 5-inches tall and weighs 120 pounds, but still manages to do what is considered to be a man's job. Her arms are scarred from flying sparks and she said horses have stepped on and broken every finger of her heavily calloused hands. Some days she shoes as many as 10 horses. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

The urban renewal agency, according to its director, James G. Connors, is willing to either convey the land to the city or work out some sort of licensing agreement (as in the case of the uptown parking garage) where the agency retains for- mal ownership of the land but the city assumes responsibility for what happens on it.

Another Criticism of Lloyd Board

HIGHLAND
Hudson Valley Citizens Watch on Nuclear Safety (HVCWNS) has all but threatened members of the Lloyd Town Board with political reprisal for the stand they recently took on the town's continuing and controversial nuclear power issue.

Although the town board recently passed a resolution opposing the location of an atomic-fueled power plant in the Town of Lloyd, it deliberately left the door open for future reconsideration. In a statement released Wednesday, HVCWNS strongly criticized the town board for its vacillating stand on the issue.

"These officials have placed themselves in the position favored by politicians since the Year One: they now stand firmly in the air with one foot on each side of the fence," said the HVCWNS statement.

And later, the group warned, "Any Lloyd politician who intends to run for reelection in the near future might... heed the famous words of P.T. Barnum: 'You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time.'"

HVCWNS did praise Lloyd councilman Albert Lester, who cast the lone dissenting vote against the resolution, claiming that the wording of the resolution was not worded strongly enough in opposition to the proposed power plant plans.

HVCWNS also expressed its doubt that the town will derive any windfall benefits from construction of a nuclear power plant, a concern that has been aired repeatedly by other anti-atomic groups in the area.

If a private utility or utilities construct and operate the proposed nuclear facility, Lloyd can expect considerable additional tax revenue. But several officials in the nuclear field have noted, HVCWNS pointed out, that it is unlikely any private utility could afford to build an atomic plant. As an alternative, a plant could be built by the Atomic and Space Development Authority (ASDA), which is a non-taxable entity.

Since ASDA cannot guarantee a private utility purchase, it is hard to see how Mr. Robertson (Clain P. Robertson, director of siting for ASDA) "clears the air" when he "speculates" that this might happen. In words of one syllable: Lloyd could very well wind up running the risks of a nuclear plant (or two or three) without any of the anticipated bonuses," according to the HVCWNS statement.

The statement concluded: "If ASDA approves the Lloyd site, it can require as long as two to three years before any construction of a power plant begins. HVCWNS is confident that before that date the citizens of Highland will see to it that a truly representative town board passes a truly anti-nuclear resolution similar to the ones passed by the Ulster, Greene, Columbia and Dutchess County Legislatures. They will never willingly trade their health, the safety of their children and grandchildren, their crops, and their peace of mind for some extremely 'iffy' tax relief and the destruction of their way of life."

Sportsmen Discuss Wildlife Impact

HIGHLAND
Representatives of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County met with officials of the National Audubon Society recently to discuss the potential impact on wildlife and the ecology of the proposed nuclear power plant being considered for a 2,300 acre site in the Towns of Lloyd and Esopus.

The group met with Richard Manly, director of the Audubon Society's Nature Center Planning Division. Manly is conducting a study on the wise use of land and natural resources at the Lloyd-Esopus site, under sub-contract to the Atomic and Space Development Authority.

The Ulster County representatives discussed use of the land outside the actual atomic plant site. They pointed out that sportsmen have been developing that particular area for a number of years, including the planting of thousands of trees, the release of rabbits for the past five years and the yearly stocking of pheasants.

The sportsmen also noted that they have restricted harvesting of any of the hares, as well as instituting a policy that forbids the shooting of antlerless deer.

In developing conservation practices under sound management, the area has been planned to develop a harvest in the next 10 years," according to the group. "However, if all licensed sportsmen.

ASDA prohibits hunting, the work over the past 20 years becomes futile. There is no reason that a master plan John Fraino.

U.S. Motorists Receive Warning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 3.4 per cent of normal demand, 10-gallon limits and "no gas today" signs of last summer whether a continuation of the will be back next month if April level of conservation American motorists decide to go on an unrestrained summer driving spree, according to a congressional report.

The Senate Interior Committee released a report Wednesday prepared by the Library of Congress, looking at the rest of the year's gasoline availability.

"Demand remains the key to the situation," the report said. "In spite of the increased supplies available as a result of the lifting of the (Arab oil) embargo, there will not be sufficient gasoline on hand to satisfy all of the potential demand for gasoline."

"Because of the continued tightness in supply, although much improved over the first quarter of 1973, the situation will require continuation of conservation measures adopted last winter. If the public returns to unrestrained driving, shortages could recur."

The report said conservation during January through March amounted to 10 per cent of demand but that drivers did not do as well in April, saving only

Spain Swears In A New Cabinet

LISBON (UPI) — President Antonio de Spínola ended a week of political crisis in Portugal today, swearing in a military-dominated cabinet to combat economic problems at home and wind down three colonial wars in Africa.

Spínola was scheduled to swear in the new, 17-member "government of discipline" this morning after selecting military men for seven key cabinet posts.

Newspapers in Lisbon predicted Spínola would use the swearing-in ceremony to make a major statement about the future of Portuguese Guinea, one of the country's three African territories.

The new left-of-center cabinet marked Portugal's second attempt at provisional government since the April 25 military coup ended a half-century of rightist dictatorship.

Spínola, who announced the makeup of the new cabinet Wednesday night, called for "more civic and social discipline in order to establish confidence in the future."

He picked Vasco Dos Santos Gonçalves, a 53-year-old army colonel who helped engineer last spring's coup, as Portugal's new prime minister.

Spínola picked Communist party leader Alvaro Cunhal to stay on as minister-without-portfolio. Socialist leader Mario Soares returned as foreign minister.

In addition to Gonçalves, Spínola picked military men to be labor, interior, defense and information ministers. He also selected officers for two of the three minister-without-portfolio posts.

The decision to appoint an army officer as labor minister was interpreted widely in Lisbon as a sign the new government would take stern measures to crack down on increasing strikes.

The president dismissed the previous government last week after Prime Minister Adelino da Palma Carlos quit because his demands for constitutional reform were rejected.

Inflation Swelling State Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The growing cost of state government — fueled by the same inflation so familiar to any family budget keeper — is expected to total $9.593 billion this year.

That total cost figure means Gov. Malcolm Wilson must campaign this fall with a state budget $1.685 billion, or more than 10 per cent larger than the 1973-74 fiscal spending plan.

A budget summary issued by Wilson's office Wednesday projects state spending by the end of next March will actually be $200 million more than the governor calculated in his January budget message to the legislature.

About 70 per cent of this cost growth is attributed directly to inflation and other increases in fixed, unavoidable costs, Wilson said in a statement.

The governor says another 27 per cent will go into revised state aid formulas "to help hardpressed local governments and citizens meet their own rising costs."

Inflation is also expected to balloon state coffers through increased state tax yields, especially from the personal income tax on inflated salaries and the sales tax on inflated prices.

An estimated 72 per cent of the state's revenues will come from the personal income tax and user taxes and fees.

By comparison, business taxes will be almost immune from the inflation that will blot the personal income tax. Business levies are expected to yield $1.403 billion, an increase of $112 million from the 1973-74 level.

The income tax will produce

$3.680 billion, according to Wilson's figures, an increase of $328 million or nearly 10 per cent.

Consumption taxes, including the sales levy, will net an additional $117 million, rising to a record $3.250 billion.

Among the reasons behind the more spectacular increase in personal taxes as compared to levies against business are a number of business tax relief measures approved by the 1974 legislature.

Virtually no tax relief was offered the average taxpayer. The legislature suspended the 2½ per cent surcharge on the personal income tax, but that levy was not collected during 1973-74.

Although most of the increased cost of government is attributed to the same cost hikes familiar to the average family—the cost of food, fuel, electricity, medical services, postage, transportation, etc.—there are a number of new programs using up taxpayer dollars.

These include: —$100 million for mass transportation operating subsidies.

—$77 million additional aid to public schools.

—$41 million for a new college tuition assistance plan.

—$80 million for other assistance programs.

The cost of welfare, education and mental health programs and state revenue sharing previously offered by the state inflated an estimated $297 million.

Salaries and benefits for state workers will cost an additional $151 million under terms of contracts previously negotiated.

CWA Workers Reject Contract

By United Press International

The Communications Workers of America rejected a contract offer from American Telephone & Telegraph and authorized a strike vote today among 500,000 union members who work in Bell Telephone Systems across the country.

The strike vote came just as the country's labor problems appeared to be easing, with many of 230,000 striking workers returning to their jobs today.

CWA President Glenn E. Watts, chairman of the union's national bargaining committee, announced the decision 90 minutes after most of the more than 100 contracts in the Bell System expired at midnight.

Contract talks have been going on for several months between AT&T and workers who are members of two major international unions plus several independents covering all of Bell's 750,000 employees.

In Charleston, W. Va., about 1,300 members of CWA Local 2001 staged an unauthorized strike and set up pickets in the Charleston area at midnight when the contracts expired.

Negotiations between the AT&T and its subsidiaries on one side, and representatives of two major AFL-CIO unions and several independents on the other, began May 15 for the first time. In the past, separate contracts were worked out locally by each division of the Bell System.

Other labor problems in the country took a turn for the better Wednesday with the settlement of several contracts. Union leaders of striking Ohio employees voted to accept a new agreement with Kennecott Cop-union has reached settlements in the country. Workers returned to their jobs today. The nation's largest with United Eastern and Northwest Airlines.

Prison guards returned to work Wednesday at Cranston, R.I., following a two-day strike. Union leaders agreed not to stage walkouts in the future.

The strike started Tuesday when guards protested a decision by Deputy Warden Dynamics Yard ratified, a Ronald Brule not to place an inmate automatically in the segregation unit of the facility.

The inmate had been involved by a 2-1 margin, ending a 122-day strike that had become he. The second longest current walkout in a fight with a guard.

Representatives of machinists and the management of National Airlines were called back to the bargaining table today in Washington. The same union, the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, AFL-CIO, is still negotiating with financially distressed Trans World Airlines.

Although 30,000 copper workers remained off their jobs, one-third approved a tentative Trans World Airlines. The second longest current walkout in a fight with a guard.

Radiation ...Cancer Cause

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A Johns Hopkins University professor says low-level radiation that occurs naturally in tobacco smoke could be the main cause of lung cancer in smokers, especially men.

Previously, tar and nicotine have been blamed as the primary causes of lung cancer in cigarette smokers.

But in a scientific paper prepared for delivery today at the Fifth International Conference of Radiation, Dr. Edward P. Radford said the same kind of low-level radiation—or "alpha radiation"—that has caused problems for underground miners existed in cigarette smoke.

He said the source of the radiation was the radioactive element polonium, and concluded, "Polonium alpha radiation may be a significant cancer initiator in cigarette-induced bronchial cancer."

His research shows the bronchial tubes of cigarette smokers show an increased activity of "polonium radiation activity."

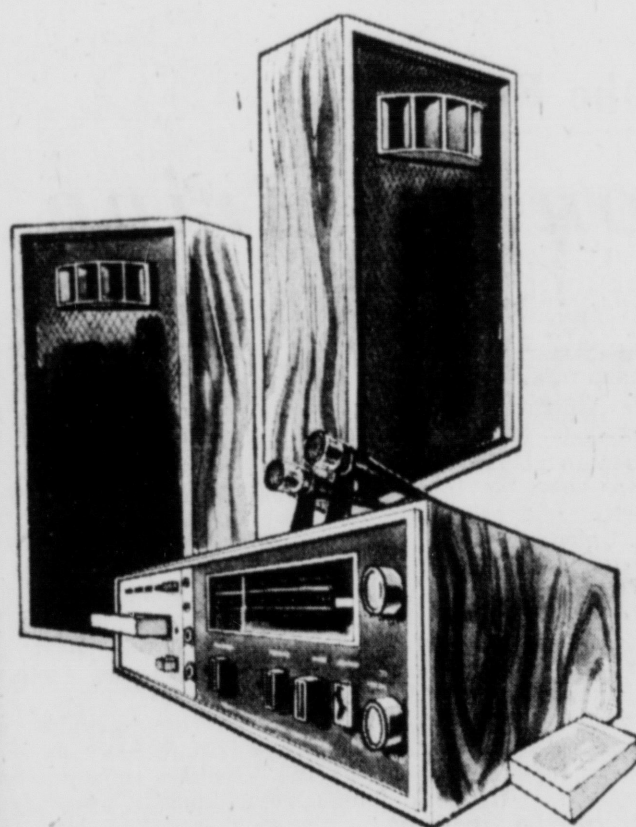

He said radioactive polonium-210 and its parent, lead-210, naturally exist in tobacco smoke, and cigarette users inhale the polonium-210 with smoke.

"It appears that polonium decay . . . accounts for a substantial fraction, if not all, of cigarette-induced cancer in males," Radford said.

Radford said the lead-210 possibly could be removed from the tobacco leaves by scrubbing or some other process.

He also said the danger of contracting lung cancer decreased after a smoker quit, because the body had time to expel the radioactive material and time healed damage done to tissue.

Radford, a professor of environmental medicine in the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, said lung cancer each year kills about 65 males out of 100,000 and about 12 females out of 100,000. The rate for women, he added is increasing rapidly.

Negative Side of Congress

The 93rd Congress will go down in history because of the impeachment proceedings, but its legislative accomplishments can be compared to a few grains of sand in the Sahara Desert.

Members of the 93rd Congress can point to two major achievements so far during the current session. One was passage of a budget reform bill. The other was tentative approval reached by House-Senate conferees on a landmark bill that would protect future retirement benefits of 35 million employees covered by private pension systems.

The budget reform bill is designed to give Congress greater control over government spending and to restrict the President's power to impound funds.

The private pension bill would protect employees against losing their pension rights when they change jobs. It would also set up a federal insurance system to guarantee an employee up to $750 a month if his pension plan fails financially.

It would be understandable for Congress to slow down during consideration of the important impeachment issue, but a look on the negative side of the legislative record shows that it has come to a grinding halt.

What is regrettable is that so many consumer bills are dying on the vine, and the legislative casualties are expected to start accumulating at a faster rate because there is so much to do and so little time left before Congress is completely engulfed in the impeachment process and then adjourns in time for the November election.

The legislative casualty count includes such items as postcard voter registration and land use, no-fault insurance and national health insurance. And other possible casualties are a campaign finance bill and tax reform.

What Congress has failed to realize is that Watergate is not the only important issue that concerns the American public.

Monster From the Deep

That staple villain of horror films, the monster which emerges from the deep, is recalled by reports of sewage sludge creeping toward the East Coast in the New York metropolitan neighborhood. A nastier monster, and one more difficult to deal with, would be hard to imagine.

This monster, acres of black sludge at the bottom of the Atlantic, is spawned by the annual dumping of some five million cubic yards of residue from sewage-treatment plants that serve 13 million people. Instead of remaining quiescent in the Ambrose Light area 10 miles from the New York and New Jersey shores, the sludge is moving slowly but inexorably toward those shores — including, of course, their popular beaches.

Last December a marine scientist from Brooklyn College, Dr. William H. Harris, reported that pieces of the sludge bed had come to within half a mile of Atlantic Beach. This aroused an outcry of denial and recrimination. The wind has been taken out of that sail by later findings by Harris and his colleagues that the stuff is now a quarter of a mile from the beach. They predict that by the summer of 1976 the beaches will be unusable because of contamination.

This is by no means uniquely a problem for residents of that area. The problem is greater there than elsewhere because of the area's huge population, but it exists in many other places in varying degree. The same goes for offshore industrial wastes. The poisonous monster from the deep is going to plague mankind unless steps are taken to hold it in check.

Dog Population Control

The campaign in Britain to bring the dog population under reasonable control deserves some attention in the United States. We, too, are experiencing a pet population explosion. Indeed, estimates indicate that proportionate to the human population there are quite a few more dogs here than in Britain.

The British dog-control effort, spearheaded by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals—has by no means won universal support. When the august Sunday Times of London joined in with an article inflamingly entitled "Down With Dogs," dog lovers were predictably inflamed. Still, the idea of holding down the dog population makes sense, as it does in our country. We suggest an appropriate motto: More spaying and less baying.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Half of America today drinks fluoridated water to avert cavities. Yet federal authorities are suddenly taking another belated look at its safety and effectiveness.

This could revive the great fluoridation controversy of 20 years ago, although the authorities are going about it coolly and quietly.

The fluoride fighters of the 1950s regarded the addition of fluoride to drinking water as a "Communist plot" to brainwash the American people.

For those who have forgotten or are too young to remember, there really were "little old ladies in tennis shoes" passing out pamphlets in the aisles of New York City subways. There were town meetings and angry campaigns. The Daughters of the American Revolution were aghast.

But, gradually, the tide turned. The Public Health Service led the fight for fluoridation. Congressional hearings in 1961 seemed to show fluoride was safe and didn't build up in the body.

In 1961, 70 communities turned to fluoride. Another 100 added fluoride to their tap water in 1962.

The fluoride fighters all but fell apart in 1966 when they lost their final battle in New York City. American dentists helped sound the death knell by putting their official seal on fluoridated Crest, to the envy and outrage of less resourceful dentifrice peddlers.

Soon the doughty Daughters stood almost alone, with some last ditch, antifluoride fanatics manning mimeo machines. But a few worried scientists had their own private reservations. Within the last few days, the Food and Drug Administration has taken some careful, tentative steps to reconsider fluoridation.

The FDA is moving at the insistence of a California Institute of Technology biologist who is so reluctant to make his findings public that he begged us to kill this story. The quiet scientist is Dr. Edward Groth III, whose hesitant conclusions come from study of 1,000 papers and countless abstracts, books, summaries and scientific publications.

On June 3, with much hedging and apology, Groth wrote to Dr. Lloyd Tepper, FDA's energetic associate commissioner, himself a student of anti-cavity additives.

"I must admit to being a bit reluctant to write to you on this subject," he told Tepper, "since I do not want to get into a position of supporting the opponents of fluoridation, with whom I have little sympathy."

Groth said he recognized that the body of research seeming to "support the effectiveness and safety of fluoridation is enormous. And there is an apparently overwhelming consensus among experts that (fluoridation) reduces dental cavities some 60 per cent, without any adverse effects on any person."

That duly acknowledged, Groth proceeds to make a devastating case for fluoridation.

For one thing, he observes, the Public Health Service was involved in a gigantic conflict of interest at the time of the fluoride fever.

The fluoridation idea, as Groth explains it, "was developed by the dental branch of PHS, and the evaluation of the adequacy of the evidence was conducted primarily by PHS scientists and by other outside scientists who were also very much involved in the development and promotion of the measure."

The key studies, said Groth, lacked even "the most basic elements of 'blind' design" which ensure total objectivity. Besides, factors such as the subjects' dental care, diet and fluoride intake were never even cranked into the studies, he reported.

More ominously, Groth wrote, "there is still no adequate evidence, despite numerous statements from high places to the contrary, that (fluoridation) is without appreciable risk."

All these considerations were brushed aside 20 years ago because of "the political controversy which swirled around fluoridation." The heat of the debate "made it expedient to have as firm a scientific statement as possible and as early in the game as possible," Groth concluded.

When Tepper got the letter, he told us he decided that "we could not just push it aside. It comes with credentials of a high order." Not only Groth, he explained, but some of his elders, including two well-known biologists and a pharmacologist, are also concerned about the long-range effects of fluoridation.

"We definitely have made no conclusions, but we are going to look into the issue," he told us.

Groth who had hoped the new fluoridation controversy could be handled within the scientific community, told us: "I'm keeping my fingers crossed. I don't want it to lead to more choosing up sides."

Footnote: Groth has at least one powerful ally in Washington. Ralph Nader tells us he has been worried about the inadequacy of follow-up tests on fluoride intake for years. He blames the FDA for footdragging on a definitive nationwide survey.

"Control Yourselves and Pull Together!"

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Senator Henry Jackson has made the most unnoticed advance on what we have known as the Jackson Amendment, but may as well now promote to the Jackson Doctrine. He did it on "Meet the Press" last Sunday, and one assumes this tactic was not unrelated to the founding, earlier in the week, of one of those pro-detente committees that attract people like John Kenneth Galbraith, who was its principal spokesman on the day of its founding, and reminded us all that it is wicked to notice wicked things about the Soviet Union because we thereby cause it to be wicked.

That, roughly, was the credo of the old Soviet-American Friendship Committee, which back in the scary old days was listed as a Communist front. Mr. Galbraith's organization is not a Communist front mostly because Communists don't feel any longer the need to manipulate American policy to their advantage. We have learned to do that all by ourselves.

But Israel and the Jewish issue happened, in the summer of 1972, and suddenly United States Senators who would be counted on to vote dreamily in favor of any step advertised as promoting world peace found themselves opposed by American Jewish groups. When this happens to American politicians, it is required that they tack. Because American politicians, particularly liberal Democrats, like sailboats, cannot sail upwind against an all but unanimous Jewish pressure.

This pressure was being summoned in behalf of the miserable Jewish victims of organized Soviet Terror, men and women who want nothing more than to leave Russia and seek asylum in Israel. And Senator Jackson, spotting something the Soviet Union greatly desired, namely huge economic concessions by America, dropped a tiny little wrench in the smoothly reciprocating gears of grinding the whole thing to a shuddering stop. He recommended to his colleagues that, as a gesture to the oppressed Jews of the Soviet Union, the United States decline to make the economic concessions unless the Soviet Union agreed to permit the emigration of its citizens.

There was, as one would expect, all hell to pay. Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kissinger and, over at the United Nations, Mr. John Scali, were required to denounce Congressional interference with Soviet affairs. And Soviet leaders vowed that no interference whatever was to be permitted in the "internal" affairs of the Soviet Union. Nobody bothered to point out that in fact we were not interfering in the internal affairs of the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union is a signatory to the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights, and indeed only last September the Soviet Praesidium proceeded to transform it into a Covenant, making it supreme in Soviet law; and that Declaration requires freedom of emigration. So that, in a manner of speaking, the Jackson Amendment is an act to reinforce Soviet law, rather like the Fugitive Slave Act in our own country.

Now Senator Jackson is suddenly talking about something besides the right of Soviet minorities to emigrate. He said casually on "Meet the Press" that the United States should not make trade concessions to the Soviet Union unless the Soviet Union takes steps to limit the development of its nuclear arsenal. Now that is a headline-making advance on the Jackson Amendment.

I myself politely resist the absolute doctrine that under no circumstances should a nation interfere in the "internal" affairs of another nation: I accept that as presumptive, but not absolute. I should think that a very good case could have been made for interfering with Hitler's slaughter of the Jews even if he had proceeded in that operation without firing a single round into Poland, or the Lowlands. But the fact of the matter is that the weapons being built by the Soviet Union cannot be thought of as an "internal" policy.

If all the missiles were trained to fly only as far as the frontiers of the Soviet Union, then it would be an internal question how many of the things the Russians should build. But since they are designed to fly as far as, for instance, Detroit, then it is surely our concern how many there are; and surely an intelligent question to ponder, as Senator Jackson put it, "Why should we subsidize the Soviet industrial-military complex while they expand it?"

The Jackson Doctrine should be thoroughly explored. He is really on to something, and I could not begin to understand it if, next time around, he failed to get the Nobel Peace Prize, since this is the most peace-inducing insight I have spotted in years, and years, and years.

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

A Drag at the Plaza

NEW YORK — The stock market had taken another one of its downward lurches that day, but the jig was up for Alice anyway. She sat in the splendor of carved wood and crystal lights at the Plaza Hotel restaurant, listening to the penetrating notes of the violin player and drinking a Campari, when she announced, "It's awful. I'm wiped out. I took my portfolio to an investment counsellor and he told me I'm worth one-third of what I was two years ago. My broker kept me in the market too long. He couldn't believe it wouldn't go back up. I'm going to have to get a job."

Across the lobby of the hotel where Eloise is supposed to have played hopscotch on the marble and hide-and-seek behind Victorian ferns, the Manhattan Follies, a female impersonator revue, was performing in the Persian Room. The Plaza's famous boite d'elegance. Some of the members of the cast seemed as surprised at being there as were the members of that part of the world which associates the hotel with the horse-drawn carriages that wait outside for fares. But then, after dark, you can't go any farther across the street into Central Park than the gilded victory statue of William Tecumseh Sherman without running the risk of getting your throat slit by robbers. The world is no longer a safe place, even for Americans.

"Well, you ought to expect it," said the person who impersonates Marlene Dietrich. "You always get female impersonators in times of decadence — the fall of Rome, Berlin before the Nazis. Role confusion, he suggested, is a symptom of impending collapse, as though the struts and angle bars of the structure were turning to mush.

The boy from Florida, who imitates the peppiest of the three Andrew Sisters on stage, didn't give himself over to drawing deep breaths of nervous satisfaction at the anticipation of doom. "After you've played the Plaza, what can you do?" he asked the world, and answered, "It's the end of my career. I guess I'll have to go back to Hallandale and impersonate Julia Child."

In the restaurant, Alice (her names has been changed to respect her privacy) considered her vocational plans also. "I can only type five pages an hour. I'll have to get a job as a waitress."

The star of the show, Craig Russell, a 49-year-old male whose looks transcend age and gender, exclaimed, "America's so mixed up politically, sexually and economically that I never thought I'd see a drag at the Plaza. Even the cockroaches have little name tags on!"

The Persian Room used to be where women singers who called themselves chanteuses sang in black decolletage without jewelry, and Alice's broker probably believed, as most of the old-time customers here did, that good stocks were the best possible hedge against inflation. That's what the little boys whose mothers took them to tea at the Plaza learned after they got out of Princeton. But good God, gold's down, the real estate investment trusts are in trouble, bonds are worth less, gentlemen play the commodity market, there are women in the University Club, and now did I hear you say they have female impersonators at the Plaza?

"Mae West didn't want me to play the Plaza," says Craig, who claims that Mae took him in when he was getting started in show business and has pictures of the two of them to substantiate. "She's as wistful as a meat ax, you know. She told me, 'I hope you're not going to impersonate me.'" Craig said, impersonating with that little wiggle in her voice. "All those queens are trying to cash in on me. I don't want the kids to think it's me on the skids. I'm very big with the college kids, you know."

There weren't many kids or anybody else at the show that night. No money or too much summer heat perhaps, but the lack of an audience heightened the mortal spirit in the night club.

"We don't have stars any more," said the male Dietrich. "Marilyn died and that was it." They die or they get old.

Waitressing, Alice thought, might be fairly lucrative but still, she supposed, she'd have to give up her old life habit of expensive clothes. For Craig the past is still serviceable. "People always ask why I do the same old impersonations. Who could stand a half-hour of Ali McGraw?"

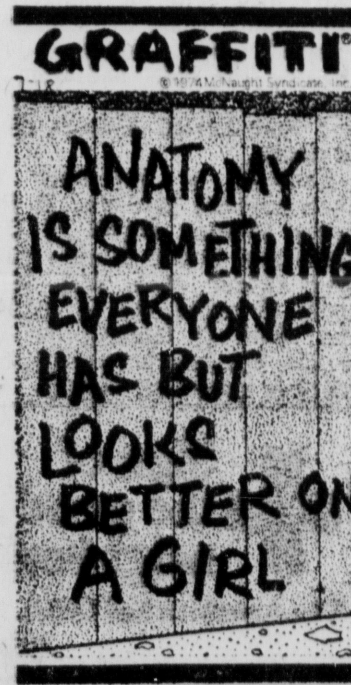

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

Women Pilots Planning Help for Disaster Victims

KINGSTON Hudson Valley Chapter 99's, an organization of women pilots, is making preparation to participate in the work of the Direct Relief Foundation of California which annually sends medical equipment supplies and appliances to peoples throughout the world who have suffered through a natural or other disasters such as in Biafra. The 99's participation will take the form of flying small supplies such as medication, bandages and instruments donated locally to a point west of here. The transporting of the materials is done in ten legs across the county. Last year 99's flew 46,000 pounds to the west coast. At a recent luncheon meeting at Kingston-Ulster Airport, the local pilots heard a talk by

Capt. John Miller, well known airline pilot and lecturer and Mrs. Cathy Pegues of Moorestown, N.J. who spoke on the work of the Direct Relief Foundation. Others who spoke included

Benedictine Hospital Administrator Sister Mary Charles and Lt. John Ryan of the New York State Police.

Mrs. Pegues pointed out that some of the many sources of second hand or new supplies for the foundation include hospitals, doctors and individuals. Ms. Jerry Roberts, governor of the 99's New York-New Jersey District also addressed the group.

Co-chairmen of the 99's Direct Relief Foundation Program are Mrs. Arlene Speisman and Mrs. Julie Price, both of Kingston.

Mrs. Gale Brownlee, one of the founders of the Hudson Valley Chapter 99's served as program chairman.

County Red Cross Chapter Searching for Veterans

KINGSTON The Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross is trying to contact persons on active military duty between Oct. 1, 1972, and Jan. 1, 1973.

Persons discharged during this period may be eligible for the "back pay increase" authorized by Congress, according to Mrs. Robert T. Shellenberger, volunteer chairman for service to military families.

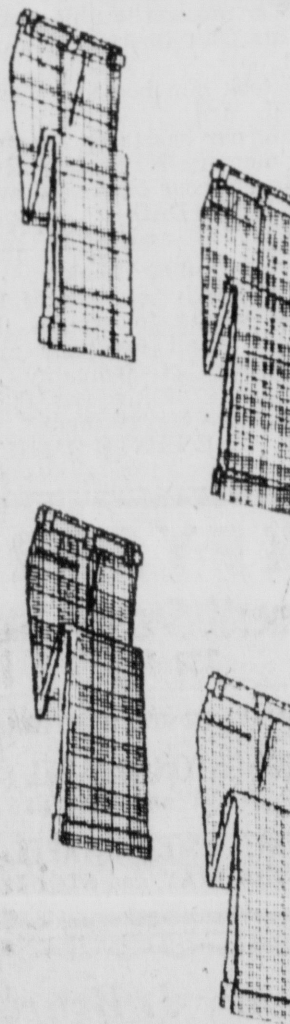

The ruling was effective Oct. 1, 1972, but was delayed by Presidential action until Jan. 1, 1973. Mrs. Shellenberger said. A recent Appeals Court ruling held that entitlement for this pay should date from Oct. 1, 1972, and calls for financial adjustment for the period of October-December, 1972.

Application must be made for monies owed. Anyone who believes he is eligible should contact the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross at 21 O'Neil Street, Kingston, weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

'Wrong Way Corrigan' . . . 36th Anniversary of Flight

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — Thirty six years ago this week, a grinning pilot climbed aboard a dilapidated monoplane — after being forbidden to fly it to Europe — and took off on a flight that was to earn him a spot in aviation history and sobriquet, "Wrong Way Corrigan."

His announced destination when he took off from Floyd Bennett Field in New York, on July 17, 1938, was California.

But 23 hours and 13 minutes later, Douglas Corrigan landed at Dublin and asked naively of astonished officials:

"Is this Los Angeles?"

The flight brought him fame and a small fortune as well as a starring role in a movie of his life, but Corrigan, now 67, shuns publicity and declines interviews.

"I've done enough talking in the past," he told a reporter this week. "Everybody knows what I did."

What he did was fly across the Atlantic Ocean without a radio in a 9-year-old Curtiss Robin that he had bought for $310 as junk seven years before and rebuilt from salvaged parts for another $600.

His only instruments were a compass, which he later claimed was set wrong, and a 10-foot pole to knock ice off the wings. He had two boxes of figs for food and took off with $69 worth of gasoline — 330 gallons stored in five fuselage and wing tanks.

The Department of Commerce, which regulated flying in those days, rated the plane strictly experimental, forbade him from flying it at night and emphatically rejected permission for a transatlantic flight.

Which way did Corrigan really intend to fly?

For years, he contended that his destination was California.

"I set that compass wrong or I would have got to California," he said. "Honest, I meant to go old. It was just dumb Irish luck that I got to Dublin."

But on the 20th anniversary of his flight, he said, "That's my story. I've been telling it so long I'm beginning to believe it" and another 10 years later, said, "I really can't remember now. It was a long time ago."

Since 1969, Corrigan has lived quietly in retirement in his modest, four bedroom ranch style home, tending the half dozen remaining trees from his grove.

"Still sitting in the garage, gathering dust, is 'Lazy,' the he said. "Honest, I meant to go old. It was just dumb Irish luck that I got to Dublin."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced broadly today on the momentum of Wednesday's late rally.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up about a point, and gainers took a 7.2 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said some investors were looking hopefully toward the weekly Federal Reserve statistics on loan demand and credit market conditions, due to be released after today's close.

Last week, when the figures showed signs of an easing in the growth of demand for business loans, the market responded with a strong rally on Friday.

Investors have been watching the loan data closely in recent weeks for signs of emerging interest rate trends.

Today's Big Board prices included Western Air Lines, down 1/4 at 10 1/2; Digital Equipment, up 1 1/2 at 105; Union Carbide, up 1/4 at 40, and Standard Oil of California, down 1/4 at 25 1/2.

On Wednesday a late wave of buying carried the Dow Jones industrial average up 9.00 to 784.97.

Enjoy convenient one-bank banking with a Heritage NOW Account.

NOW, at last, the service you never thought you'd see from a savings bank. NOW, finally, you can save with Heritage and pay all bills with Heritage.

A NOW Account is a no-passbook, non-interest bearing account which can be drawn against by a negotiable order of withdrawal (NOW) called a payment order. Simply, this means you can use your NOW account payment orders to pay all bills. And, if you're short of funds, cash a payment order on your account.

A Heritage NOW Account is free when a minimum monthly balance of $200 is maintained and you write as many payment orders as you want.

To make a NOW Account even more attractive, Heritage will automatically give you, free, a Heritage Card to use as identification when cashing payment orders, paychecks, personal checks, etc. Better yet, why not open a Heritage Card savings account with 24-hour bank-by-phone service and receive 5 1/4 percent interest.

And, for easy record keeping, every month you will receive an itemized statement of your account, along with your cancelled payment orders.

In addition, you can select from a free, wide variety of payment order styles, colors and cover fabrics. Your name and account number will be printed on the payment orders, also at no charge.

Come into any office of Heritage Savings Bank and immediately start enjoying all of the advantages and convenience of one-bank banking. This is the savings bank service you've been waiting a long time for.

Just another example of how we provide for your future...NOW.

(Government regulations do not permit overdraft privileges. There can be no payment unless sufficient funds are available on deposit in your account. There is a service charge for payment orders returned for such reasons as insufficient funds, uncollected funds, or any improperly executed payment order. There is also a service charge for a stop payment order and violation of minimum balance.)

Food for Family of Four

... NYC Cost Past $60

NEW YORK (AP) — With a dramatic rise of one per cent in the week ending last Friday, the weekly cost of feeding a family of four in this city has risen past $60, the Department of Consumer Affairs says.

The department reported Wednesday that its 38-item market basket cost $60.13, 59 cents more, than the purchase price of the same groceries in the previous week.

The only other time the market basket survey had topped $60 was last February, during a nationwide truckers' protest over fuel conservation measures. In the period from Feb. 11 to 15 the cost was a record $61.25 and in the period from Feb. 18 to 22 it was $60.60.

Commissioner Elinor Guggenheimer attributed the cost increase last week to rising prices for fresh fruits and vegetables, and a 1.5 per cent increase in overall meat prices despite a slight decline for beef.

Center cut pork chops rose from $1.64 to $1.72 per pound, and chicken went up from 53 cents to 57 cents per pound. Tuna fish rose from 65 cents to 67 cents for a 6½ ounce can.

Meanwhile, chuck steak went down from 91 cents to 87 cents a pound, and bottom round roast dropped from $1.70 per pound to $1.68.

White potatoes went down from $1.32 for five pounds to $1.27, but green beans went up from 46 cents to 45 cents per pound and lettuce rose from 49 cents to 52 cents per head.

The price of sugar continued to soar, rising a penny in a week to $1.65 for five pounds. That compared to $1.50 a month ago and 79 cents a year ago. The rise in sugar prices, coupled with a rise in the price of canning materials, was blamed for rising prices of canned soft drinks.

City Man Is Arrested

KINGSTON — Michael Provenzano, 27, of 188 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston, was arrested Wednesday by city police on a warrant charging him with second degree possession of stolen property.

Provenzano was alleged to have a camera stolen from the home of Frank Simpson Jr., 246 East Chester Street, sometime between July 8 and July 11.

Following arraignment, Provenzano was confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail pending a reappearance in court at a later date.

man; and Larry Hiller, vice president. The menu includes clams, beer, and other items, and tickets can be purchased from any member of the committee. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Hurley Candidacy Is Announced

WEST HURLEY Archie, a manufacturer's representative of the R. W. suburban Buffalo, worked there for several years. She is president of the West Hurley Homeowners' Association, of which she is one of the incorporators, and is currently involved as a teacher of the town's children. She is also a member of the County Health Department and is currently involved as a teacher of the town's children. She is also a member of the County Health Department and is currently involved as a teacher of the town's children.

Mrs. Lickers, a licensed dental hygienist, has announced several goals if elected. These include development, within guidelines and regulations of the town, county, and state, for the mutual benefit of all town residents; updating of the town's zoning ordinance to consider the terrain and subsoil conditions of much of the remaining land in the town; the purchase and development of a site to make swimming engaging in the town; a concentrated effort to make Route 28 less hazardous and an effort to spark interest in town government.

For personally planned student loans

Sawyer Savings Bank knows that one strict student loan plan cannot fit everyone's needs.

That's why we arrange our Student Loans on a very personal level, leaving open many options.

A qualified applicant, for example, may select a loan for either undergraduate work or postgraduate studies. Or, he may opt for a combination of both loans.

He decides—within limits, of course—the exact amount to borrow. (Up to $7,500 is allowed for undergraduates—distributed in partial, annual allotments during this school period—with an additional $2,500 available for graduate studies.)

He chooses which approved college or vocational school to attend.

His selection of a specific loan plan, including the amount to be borrowed, automatically determines the payoff period. There are generous time allowances of from 7 to 10 years possible per individual plans, beginning up to nine months after courses end.

Of course some things about our Student Loans are necessarily the same.

All qualified applicants must be residents of New York State for at least one year prior to the time the loan is granted, and they must be enrolled in or accepted at an approved school.

If you qualify for our Student Loans, please stop in or call 246-9541 to discuss your plans. Let us structure a Student Loan for you. We want you to achieve your individual goals, and we'll do all we can to help.

'Surprise' Primary Slated

KINGSTON
A surprise primary between Ulster County Liberal candidate for State Senate in the 40th District, Paul Atkinson and Democrat-Liberal candidate King James Weyant, mayor of Highland Falls has been authorized by the State Executive Committee of the Liberal Party.

Ulster County Liberal Party Chairman Donald I. Short called it "an unusual move", adding that more than the necessary percentage of petitions have already been presented on behalf of Atkinson to John Ghezzi, Secretary of State.

The state Liberal Party action was taken, according to Short because "of a small group of liberals in Orange County who felt that a candidate with Democrat-Liberal backing would fare better against the incumbent Republican Conservative Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn than one with only Liberal backing. The Orange Liberals endorsed Weyant and the Ulster Liberals endorsed Atkinson.

Short said that Atkinson refused to contend for the Democratic nomination, feeling that at this time a Liberal "could win the election, running solely on the Liberal ticket."

"People are tired of having no real choice among candidates. The two-party system has got to go," he said.

Atkinson predicts he will win the Liberal primary against Weyant "by a good margin."

The candidate will make a campaign appearance when he mans the Liberal Party booth at the Ulster County Fair in New Paltz, Aug. 8-11.

Schermerhorn also faces a Republican Primary with Helmut Kimpel of Warwick.

BSA Units Prepare For Bicentennial

KINGSTON — More than 150 Scouting units in this area are preparing this month for the launching of the second year of the nation's bicentennial observance by the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The Cub Scout packs, Scout troops, and Explorer units in Greene and Ulster Counties are scheduling participation in national and local activities and have started plans for monthly program themes and features, according to Robert M. Browning, Scout Executive Kingston.

From September through August 1975, Scouting members are building their unit program around the program emphasis, Be Prepared for Life: Be Safe, Be Fit.

The last 2 years of the 4-year

Scouting bicentennial observance from 1975-77 will be Heritage '76, a look at history; Festival USA, related to a greater knowledge of the country; and Horizons '76, to look to the future.

"The coming year's bicentennial program features activities that will stress the conservation of human resources and home, traffic, and outdoor safety through skill," Browning said.

National and local activities in which local Scouting members will participate include Project SOAR: a national Ecology Good Turn; Scout Booth Shows in April; a Council Camporee in June; and Cub Scout Bike Safety Rodeos in the spring.

The Rip Van Winkle Council serves over 5,000 boys and young adults in 150 units in communities throughout Greene and Ulster Counties.

DiMasi District Head For Mohican Scouters

Martin DiMasi of Catskill has been elected district chairman for the 1974-75 term of the Mohican Trail District, Boy Scouts, encompassing Greene County and Saugerties.

Biology Article Published

STONE RIDGE issue of The American Biology Teacher, the Journal of the National Association of Biology Teachers.

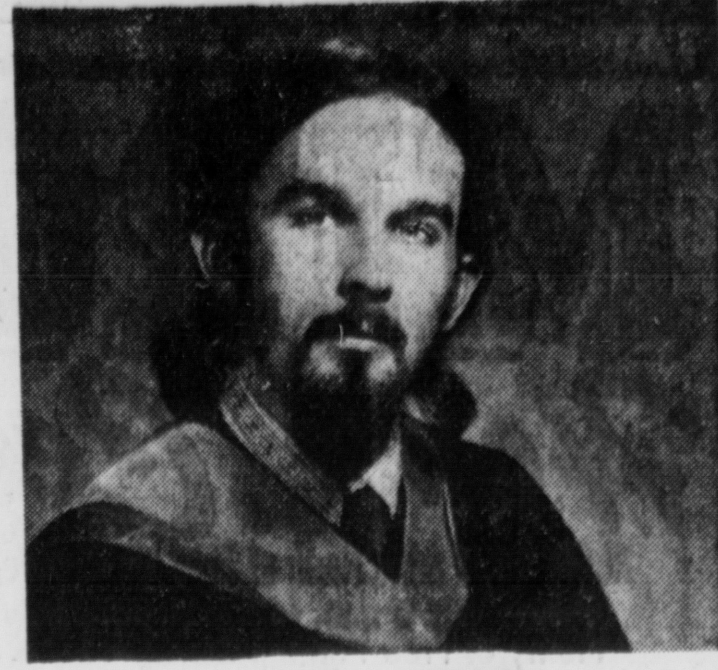

Entitled Project BIOTECH. Use of Modules in Technician Training, the article describes Professor Glazer's work in developing teaching modules in the biological sciences and the potential of these modules in technician training. Professor Glazer worked on the project for two years with the American Institute of Biological Sciences in Washington, D.C. where he served as Associate Director of Project Bio-tech. The modules are designed to free the teacher from routine skill teaching and allow them the time to work with individual students to help inspire, motivate and develop positive attitudes.

More trips are planned by the club. Membership is open to the public and Y membership is not required. Anyone interested may call Daniel Stott, Kingston or attend any meeting held on the third Wednesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA. Rides ranging from ten miles and up are scheduled for summer and fall.

Washington Confrontation... A Lesson in Patience

WASHINGTON (AP) — The death was present from the moment the armed convicts, Frank Gorham and Robert Nathan Jones, seized eight hostages and held them at gunpoint in the U.S. District Court house cellblock Thursday. They demanded freedom and a flight out of the country in exchange for safe release of the hostages. The first night passed, the hostages survived unharmed, and the prisoners were talking by telephone with a team of law enforcement negotiators and with reporters.

own calls to keep Gorham and Jones awake and distracted, Silberman said in an interview.

Analysis

As long as the prisoners held the hostages, there was little dispute about the strategy of waiting. "It was terribly important to us to do nothing to jeopardize the lives of the hostages

But the negotiators sensed there was room for bargaining with Gorham and Jones and played for time.

The government team included Chief U.S. Marshal George McKinney, his assistant James Palmer, deputy police chief Maurice Cullinane, Police Chief Jerry Wilson, Acting U.S. Atty. Earl Silbert, Norman Carlson, head of the Bureau of Prisons, and Donald Moore, special agent in charge of the Washington FBI office.

Silberman said it appeared violence would be unavoidable when Gorham said he had an axe and threatened that heads would roll.

But again, they waited and again, Gorham cooled down. The hostages escaped unharmed Sunday. With Gorham slumbering and Jones on the telephone, authorities smuggled in an elevator key and the hostages fled within minutes.

And still, authorities chose to wait instead of rushing the cellblock to subdue Gorham and Jones by force.

"The pressure was off and we were generally inclined to just wait them out," Silberman said.

The siege ended Monday night when Gorham and Jones surrendered after one last futile bid for freedom. Chopping their way through air conditioning ducts, they fled the cellblock and exchanged gunfire with police. No one was hit.

The 103 hours without injuries surprised some outside observers. "All in all, I was really pleased to see the restraint. I couldn't believe it, especially in this town. The quick response is to go in and start shooting," said George J. Mische, executive director of the National Coordinating Committee for Justice Under Law, a prison reform group.

EASTER IN JULY? — Hardly, but it doesn't matter to Mrs. George A. Reiff of 45 Lincoln Street, who enjoys lilies any old month of the year. This one is special however, for she bought it two years ago and placed it on a church altar in memory of her daughter, Georgette Reiff, who died five years ago. Planted later in her garden, it failed to produce any flowers last year but this week nine gorgeous blooms burst forth. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Dispute About Safety on Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Job health researchers say they are getting pressure from the Labor Department to tone down their advice on how to protect workers from industrial poisons.

The pressure is said to be coming from the department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration, center of a new Watergate controversy also related to job-health rules.

OSHA officials want health researchers at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to quit recommending safe levels for industrial substances that are harmful to workers, sources say.

Presently, HEW researchers issue "criteria documents" for different poisons, recommending specific ceilings which they feel will eliminate health hazards. OSHA then must translate the recommendations into legally enforceable standards.

Critics often charge that OSHA swaps lives for profits, and sources say this has led OSHA officials to seek an end to HEW's specific recommendations.

One source inside OSHA said the agency's standards chief, Daniel P. Boyd, pressed HEW officials for an end to specific recommendations of safe levels during a meeting two weeks ago.

The source said some of Boyd's subordinates felt it would not be proper. A spokesman at HEW said Boyd's idea had been rejected because the law requires HEW to recommend specific ceiling levels.

The interagency dispute comes at the same time as a somewhat related controversy sparked when the Senate Watergate committee published a memorandum written by OSHA's former chief, George

C. Guenther. It proposed that Nixon fund raisers use the agency's record as a "selling point" with the employers he was supposed to be regulating.

Guenther wrote the memo five months before the 1972 election, and predicted that no controversial job-health proposals would come from his agency or HEW during the campaign.

He also said he intended to clear new employees with the Republican National Committee, and said he had discussed with fund raiser Lee Nunn "the great potential of OSHA as a sales point for fund raising and general support by employers."

The Watergate committee said Guenther's plan was rejected by Laurence Silberman, now U.S. deputy attorney general.

But Ralph Nader's Health Research Group charged that OSHA apparently has implemented the Guenther plan, and pointed out that the only job-health standards now in force, three years after the agency was set up, are for asbestos fibers and a list of cancer-causing substances. HEW recommendations for ceilings on more than a dozen other poisons, affecting an estimated 5 million workers, still are pending, some since 1972.

Dr. Sidney Wolfe, head of the Nader group, accused OSHA of "murder in the workplace" and demanded that Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski investigate.

Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., who sponsored the law that set up OSHA, in a statement said the Guenther memo shows him to be guilty of "at the very least, a clear dereliction of duty."

Separatist Feeling High at Grass Roots

OTTAWA (UPI) — A move to separate the prairie provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba from the rest of Canada is alive and gaining ground after the recent Liberal election victory.

The last attempted separation of the western provinces was in the late 1890's, but the move to set up an independent Prairie State was quashed by police and its leader, Louis Riel, was hanged.

In recent years, the threat of separation has come from the French-speaking province of Quebec.

But now the focus has shifted westward and, according to former Conservative house leader J. Edgar Baldwin, "the situation is not unlike that of a tinder dry forest which needs only someone to strike a match to cause a conflagration."

Baldwin, who represents a constituency in the oil-rich province of Alberta, took aim at the Liberal government of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau which won re-election on the strength of support in central Canada but made little headway in the prairies.

The lopsided electoral map, he said, was an illustration of separate the prairie provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba from the rest of Canada is alive and gaining ground after the recent Liberal election victory.

Employment Agency Association Elects First Woman President

WENDEEN H. EOLIS

Wendeen H. Eolis, of Eolis Personnel, Manhattan, is the first woman to be elected president of the Association of Personnel Agencies of New York State.

At the association's annual meeting, Miss Eolis acknowledged the singular honor and asked for cooperation in achieving a four point program including greater awareness on the part of the entire industry in the area of Human Rights, a major thrust for increased Certification in order to professionalize the industry to an even greater extent, cooperation and support in achieving the enactment of legislation to modernize the employment agency laws, and membership service programs for the benefit of the 1,300 private employment agencies throughout the state represented by the association.

The new APANY President has been in the employment agency industry for seven years and has served the association as Chairman of its Ethics and Arbitration Committees, as a director and as a District Director to the National Employment Association, and as a member of APANY's Legislative, Human Rights, Public Relations and Advertising Committees. She holds a BA degree from NYU and attended NYU's Graduate School of Business Administration.

The elections also included four additional officers and seven new members to the board of directors. The new officers are: first vice-president, Myron Chetetz, Wells Management, Manhattan; second vice-president, Richard Mendel, Snelling & Snelling, Forest Hills; treasurer, Ted Silbert, Preston Personnel, Manhattan; and secretary, Elva Meyer, Tri-County Personnel, Mt. Kisco.

Of the additions to the board of directors, elected for a two year term ending in June, 1976, six are from Manhattan and include: Helen Cris, Cris Associates; Lew Faber, Styles Management; William Mazurek, V.A. Parr Personnel; Ron Morgan, Fanning Personnel; Ben Paige, Directions Inc.; and Don Waldron, Don Waldron Associates. A seventh member of the board, Nicholas Moran, Employment Advisors, is from Jamaica, N.Y.

Heidi Baumgarten Weds Frederick Schwarz

The marriage of Heidi Christine Baumgarten of Kingston and Frederick Karl Schwarz of Ulster Park has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf C. Baumgarten of Woodstock. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl W. Schwarz of 198 Lindorf Street, Port Ewen.

The Rev. Allan Janssen officiated at the double ring ceremony Sunday, July 14 at Port Ewen Reformed Church. The Rev. Harvey Todd assisted. Traditional wedding selections were provided. The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a traditional white gown styled with an Empire waistline. A ruffle formed a yoke-effect on the Chantilly lace bodice. The gown featured long tapered sleeves of matching lace and a lace-bordered flounce at the hemline. Her chapel-length mantilla and blusher was also trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, white daisies and daisies.

Hackensack, N.J. was maid of honor in a melon colored voile gown fashioned with puffed sleeve and a full flounce. Flowered lace accented the V-neckline, sleeves and Empire waistline. She wore a white picture hat with matching lace and carried a bouquet of melon-colored daisies.

Baumgarten, sister of the bride, Woodstock; Noreen Baumgarten, cousin of the bride, Rochester; Barbara Fetzner, Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.; Karen Schwarz, sister of the bridegroom, Port Ewen; Donna Stephano Sleightsburg. Their gowns were identical in styling to the honor attendant's except in rainbow colors of blue, lavender, yellow, green and pink, respectively. They wore white picture hats and carried bouquets of daisies to match their gowns.

William Benson of Sleightsburg was best man. Ushering were Herman Brandt, Grant Dunham, Kenny Terpening, all of Port Ewen; Roger Elmendorf, Kingston; Al Theimke, Colonie.

A reception was given at Holiday Inn, Kingston. Guests attended from South America, New Jersey, Connecticut, Arizona, Oklahoma, and Ohio.

The bride, a 1969 graduate of Saugerties High School, was graduated from Ulster County Community College, class of 1971, and is employed as bookkeeper at Grand Union, Albany Avenue, Kingston.

Her husband, a 1968 alumnus of Kingston High School, was graduated in 1970 from UCCC, and is employed by the New York Telephone Company in Poughkeepsie.

After a wedding trip to the New England States, Mr. and Mrs. Schwarz will reside at Union Center Road, Ulster Park.

AFS Names Area Representative

American Field Service International Scholarships (AFS) has announced the appointment of Mrs. Ralph W. Pulver Jr. as area representative for the AFS Chapters in Dutchess and Ulster Counties. Mrs. Pulver will be working directly with the seven chapters in this area which include Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Millbrook, Rhinebeck, New Paltz, Onteora, and Red Hook.

As area representative, she will be concerned with coordinating area AFS activities, promoting communications between all chapters, assisting local chapters when necessary, as well as forming new chapters in areas that wish to participate in the AFS program.

A past president of the Red Hook Chapter of AFS, Mrs. Pulver was host mother for an AFS student from Ecuador in 1971-72.

Cindy Lee Queen of Saugerties and Michael John Keller of Locust Valley were married July 6 at Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties. The Rev. Richard Shemenske officiated at the ceremony. Bob Waldale, organist, accompanied Bev Dargan who sang wedding selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wana L. Queen of 18 Louis Avenue, Saugerties, and the late Sonny J. Queen. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Keller of 40 Hernan Avenue, Locust Valley.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Larry N. Gaul of Mansfield, Ohio. She selected a gown fashioned with a halter bodice and an A-line skirt made of slipper satin. The gown which featured an attached train of satin and nylon was made by Mrs. Ruth Hogan. Her floral headpiece held a fingertip veil and she carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and miniature pink carnations.

Gail Olson of Saugerties was maid of honor in an Empire styled gown in apricot. The gown was fashioned with ruffle accents at the V-neckline, short puffed sleeves, and featured an apron effect on the skirt. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a plateau basket of roses, carnations, pompons and daisies.

Bridesmaids were Sonia Queen and Roxanne Queen, sisters of the bride, Saugerties. Their gowns were fashioned identically to the honor attendant's except in blue and lilac. They wore matching picture hats and carried baskets of roses, carnations, pompons and daisies.

Jay V. Keller of Locust Valley was best man for his brother. Ushering were Christopher D. Keller, Locust Valley, brother of the bridegroom, and Jim Myers of New York.

A reception was given in St. Joseph's parish hall, Glasco. Guests attended from Long Island, Staten Island, Queens, Manhattan, Brooklyn, Catskill, Kingston, Rome N.Y.; Texas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey.

The bride, a 1973 graduate of Saugerties High School, is employed as a clerk at Standard and Poors, Inc.

Her husband, a 1969 alumnus of Wagner College, Staten Island, is a biology teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Keller will reside at Locust Valley.

'Butterflies Are Free'

Comedy Plays Through Sunday

The Leonard Gershe comedy hit "Butterflies Are Free," which opened Tuesday night at Woodstock Playhouse, will be on stage through Sunday and is expected to draw capacity audiences.

Directed by Henry Velez with sets and lighting by Andre St. Jean, the cast consists of four characters: Don Baker, played by Franklin Getchell; Jill Tanner, portrayed by Joyce Beauvais; Mrs. Baker, played by Virginia Daly; and Ralph Austin, a part played by Charles Maggiore.

The plot concerns a possessive mother, her blind son and the young lady in his life. Done in two acts, it is filled with suspense as well as laughter.

Virginia Daley, in the main role, has displayed a great deal of dramatic talent in such plays as the Tennessee Williams "Summer and Smoke" and received off-Broadway awards for her part in Shaw's "Candida" and Chekhov's "The Seagull." Miss Daley also played the role of Blanch in "Streetcar Named Desire" and co-directed with Kirk Douglas at a Cape Cod theatre.

This is the first presentation for the Woodstock Playhouse resident company this season. The staff is working under the direction of Henry Velez. Diana Banks is stage manager.

Tickets to "Butterflies Are Free" are available at the box office in Woodstock. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m.

Turnau Returning

It has been announced also that a vibrant production of "Don Pasquale," Donizetti's forerunner of the contemporary musical comedies, will close out the successful series of English-language operas presented this year by Turnau Opera at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Four performances, on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 23 and 24, and on the following Thursday and Friday, July 26 and 27, will be performed with 8:30 p.m. curtains.

First presented in 1843, this spirited production will feature Anthony Tamburello, who has played everything from the corpulent Camin to a cadaverous Basilio. Mr. Tamburello stars in the title role of Don Pasquale and has also directed this production.

His versatility blends effectively into this rich melodic production featuring hilarious domestic triangles, lush fantasies and romance in three acts and five scenes. A full cast of seven including Forest Lorey, Gloria Johnson, as the romantic Norina, Franco Spoto, David Scatter, Sidney Cresop and Richard Breyer make this opera production truly exceptional.

IN LOCAL COMEDY — Joyce Beauvais and Franklin Getchell have lead roles in "Butterflies Are Free," a Leonard Gershe comedy now on stage at Woodstock Playhouse. Also featured in the production are Virginia Daly and Charles Maggiore. The play will be staged through this Sunday with curtains at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the box office. (Alan Carey photo)

'Nice Guys' Also Known as 'Suckers!'

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and Bill is 21 and we're getting married soon. My problem is my mother. She doesn't drive, and she is always offering Bill's driving services to her friends without asking Bill first. She just calls him and tells him to pick up so and so. She also asks him to drive her around and do different errands for her. She has never offered to put any gas in Bill's car and with gas so high, it makes a difference. Bill isn't dumb. He knows he's being taken advantage of, but he's such a nice guy he never says "no" to her.

I've asked Mom not to take advantage of Bill this way, but it hasn't helped. Any suggestions?

BILL'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Tell Bill that when your mother's requests are an imposition to tell her in a nice way that he can't accommodate her. People who let others take advantage of them can expect to go through life being used and inconvenienced. They may be known as "nice guys," but they're also known as "suckers."

DEAR ABBY: To "HAD IT

WITH MOM", who visited her elderly mother only occasionally because Mom talked of nothing but illness, death and hardships — present and past.

Too bad we can't just consign all the contrary old folks to a gas chamber, so we won't have to bother with them!

Old people complain of "illness" because they are at that stage of their lives when their bodies (and minds) have begun to deteriorate.

Probably the most existing thing that happened to Mom was her visit to the doctor's last week.

Old folks talk about "death" because they live at death's door. Their friends are dropping like flies, and death seems so near to them.

They speak of 'hardships' — present and past' because they are proud to have overcome the hardships of the past, and are trying to endure present hardships.

My own mother suffers from all the above. You see, I have memories of Mamma from when I was a child. Of that love, care, time and tenderness she gave me. What she taught me was more valuable than what I learned in college. There is not one single day that passes that I don't use some of the knowledge that Mamma imparted.

Someday I will be visiting Mamma's grave, as I do Daddy's now. I will then wish I could hear a few complaints or hard luck stories from her past.

If we are lucky, we, too, will grow old. Then we will pray that some loving friend or relatives will come to visit us and patiently listen as we talk about the aches and pains of our minds, bodies and hearts.

DEAR DIANNE: You're beautiful.

DEAR ABBY: Please help correct the erroneous idea that most homes for unwed mothers have closed down because they are no longer needed.

The fact that more unmarried mothers are keeping their babies doesn't necessarily mean that no one needs our services anymore. Many unmarried pregnant girls need a quiet place where they can "think" and get counseling and guidance (not preaching) from people who understand. Delivery of her baby is a small part of her need.

How to Feed Six Children and Still Smile

By HELOISE

Dear Heloise: I would like to tell you how we managed to eat out so often even with all the kids we have, so other parents could save and enjoy it too.

We all enjoy hamburgers on Thursday (when we go marketing) and on weekends when we go to the drive-in. If we didn't use our heads we couldn't afford to do this.

I always fill our thermos with milk for the kids and we keep paper cups in the car. Milk alone is very expensive when you have six children. I mix half powdered milk with half real milk, it's cheaper that way. I put it in the fridge for a day or so and my family can't tell the difference.

We keep a small picnic cooler in the back of the car. In this we store mustard, pickles, hot sauce, and a few packages of potato chips.

Seems as if one kid likes lots of mustard, and they never seem to put enough pickles on a hamburger for any of us. Besides, we like real sour pickles. And Daddy loves his hot sauce.

The potato chips are passed around and that cuts down more on the price of our order.

Helpful Hints From Heloise

So this is the way we can afford to eat out twice a week with our gang.

Mother and Daddy love it, too, as there is no mess in the kitchen, the kids all have a ball and are ready to help put away the weeks groceries when we get home.

BUDGET PARENTS

Dear Heloise: When frying eggs I always had trouble with the eggs sticking to the dry spatula. Today, I discovered a trick.

I buttered the spatula lightly on both sides, pressed it down into the warm frying pan for a few seconds.

I put the eggs in the skillet and when they were ready to turn, the spatula slipped under the eggs with ease.

S. BERTRAND

Dear Heloise:

I didn't want to invest in an awning for a west window, but found the summer sunlight and heat too much.

One hot day I cut and taped pieces of aluminum foil together to fit the glass and also taped the outside edges.

I now have a very effective sunshield and reflector, and find the room is ten degrees cooler.

ECONOMICAL

Dear Heloise: I put almost empty rolls of toilet tissue in one of those boutique tissue boxes. The roll stays on the bottom, and the tissue comes out of the top, and is easily broken off.

It's great, because this way, you have more inexpensive ways of keeping facial tissues, plus you never run out of toilet tissue.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

My 6-year-old son is in the first grade and felt very left out when all his classmates were losing their first tooth and he hadn't.

The magic time for him finally arrived. One evening

he lost his first tooth.

The next day he came home from school and sighed, "I'm so tired! I've been smiling all day."

Top Aides Revise Ford's Travel Tabs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top aides of Vice President Gerald R. Ford, reviewing the mounting expenses of his cross-country travels, have decided the Republican National Committee has been paying more of the cost than is fair.

From now on, they say, the GOP will only pick up the tab for that portion of a trip directly related to politics. In the past, the party has paid for all of any trip that included a political appearance.

When Ford flew last month to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., then stopped at a GOP fundraiser in Columbus, Ohio, on his way home, the party paid for the whole thing, the aides say.

Ford's basic policy is that the government pays for official trips, speeches to organizations, the past few months beyond vice presidential operation room; and two political appearances in Tacoma, Wash., discovered that the national committee was of.

The basic rule was that, if ten paying the cost, but not get newsmen paid the standard first-class fare, $874. However, the cost of the plane, $1,277, the $10,000 that was collected plus $99 in incidental expenses, the $103 paid by each reporter went to the Treasury, rather than to reimburse a portion of the $40,000 paid by the Republicans.

Under the revised system, the Republicans would have paid the round-trip cost from New York to be honored as Washington, and then the government would have paid the rest. The money received from the reporters would be divided.

GNP Shows Economic Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A report released today by the Commerce Department shows a second consecutive quarterly decline in economic growth, UPI learned today.

The report is bound to revive debate over whether the United States endured a mild recession in the first three months of 1974.

The drop in economic output between April and June was small — something less than 1 per cent — informed sources said. This was far less than the dramatic 6.3 per cent decline in the first three months of 1974, the biggest quarterly slump since 1958.

The actual figures were scheduled to be released later today by the Commerce Department in its quarterly report on the Gross National Product.

The new statistics reflect an economy that is shaking off the debilitating effects of the energy crisis, but not quite as fast as the administration had predicted.

Such key government officials as Kenneth R. Felt, President Nixon's chief economic advisor, and Chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board had predicted a small "plus" in economic growth in the preceding three months.

The result, according to highly placed sources, was just the opposite.

The figures also showed how badly the nation was being victimized by inflation. The "minus" growth rate actually means that rising prices in April-June wiped out the total

Three Bank Presidents Paint Gloomy Picture

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Balles of the San Francisco job opportunities from a tighter presidents of three Federal Reserve banks said government spending monetary policy should be to serve banks predict interest should be reduced to eliminate companies by social programs rates will remain high and the proposed budget deficit for such as "liberalized unemployment will rise in the next year. They also said the ment benefits, public service fight against what one called Federal Reserve should further jobs, welfare reform and training and education programs."

All stressed that the history. Both Hayes and Balles endorsed a proposal by Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, to keep government spending below its income and to reduce the upcoming year's fiscal debt by 2 per cent.

The budget proposed by President Nixon provides for an estimated $14 billion deficit.

Balles criticized attempts to perhaps the worst peacetime that the medium and low in lower interest rates alone, deflation in our history. ## 'Send a Dog Biscuit to Washington'

KINGSTON, N.Y. — The consumer group rate increases sought by Central Hudson Gas and Electric seeking an appointment with the company, as well as the PSC to discuss the holding of public hearings before any further increases in the form of fuel adjustment charges are passed along to "the overburdened and inflation weary consumer."

In a letter to Alfred E. Kahn, chairman of the Public Service Commission, the Irate Consumers said that despite all their appeals, fuel adjustment charges have been rising without public hearings they feel are necessary in order to achieve a fair deal for the consumer.

The Irate Consumers are also enlisting the aid of the New York Consumer Protection Board "to investigate the legality of the fuel adjustment charges without public hearings."

At a recent meeting, members decided to ask taxpayers to send the cat and dog biscuits to their elected representatives so that they can experience the savory delights that their constituents are experiencing."

The Irate Consumers, who will meet again Monday, July 22, at Solway House, Route 212, are also carrying on their extended protest of what they term "the unfair proposed consumer."

Any redevelopment who are interested in purchasing, restoring and landscaping the aforementioned properties should contact the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency by letter, at 436 Broadway, Kingston, New York 12401, addressed to the Attention of James G. Connors, Executive Director no later than July 26, 1974, at 4:00 P.M. The letter should contain the price over and above the minimum stated herein for each property on which a proposal of interest is submitted. It should also contain a narrative statement as to how the redeveloper proposes to carry out restoration and landscaping
the proposed use of the property after restoration and the estimated time it will take to complete restoration.

The qualified redeveloper designated by the Agency will be required to file HUD forms 606A, (Redeveloper's statement for Public Disclosure and Redeveloper's statement of qualifications and financial Responsibility).

The qualified redeveloper so designated, relative to properties in Project No. NY R-121, will also be required to submit Restoration
Plans to the Landmark Preservation Commission of the City of Kingston for review and approval prior to submission of such plans to the Agency. Compliance with All City of Kingston Codes will be required.
Agents or brokers will not be entitled to a commission in so far as the Agency is concerned.

Following receipt of the proposals of interest, the Agency will review the proposals with local officials to obtain additional information if needed, and designate a qualified redeveloper to purchase, restore and landscape the aforementioned properties.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ES-TABLISHMENT OF THE BARCLAY
HEIGHTS SEWER IMPROVEMENT
PROJECT IN THE TOWN OF SAUGERTIES, ULSTER COUNTY, NEW YORK,
PURSUANT TO ARTICLE 12-C OF
THE TOWN LAW

WHEREAS, heretofore and on the 9th day of September, 1971, the Town Board of the Town of Saugerties duly made a resolution establishing the "Barclay Heights Sewer Improvement" bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the southerly
bounds of the Village of Saugerties
the intersection of the Village of Saugerties line and the centerline of Route 9W and running thence southwesterly along the centerline of Route 9W, approximately 5,290 feet to a point 250
feet past the intersection of the centerline of Barclay Lane and Route 9W; thence northwesterly, 250 feet from and parallel to Barclay Lane and the extension of Barclay Lane, approximately 3,490
feet to the centerline of the Esopus Creek; thence northeasterly along the centerline of the Esopus Creek, approximately 7,500 feet to the Village of Saugerties line;
thence easterly along the Village of Saugerties line, approximately 4,880 feet to the point of beginning. All distances being scaled from a map titled "Proposed Wastewater Collection Facilities,
Town of Saugerties, Ulster County,
N. Y." prepared by A. Diachishin & Associates, Consulting Engineers,
Napanoch, N. Y., and dated May 12, 1971.

WHEREAS said resolution was adopted subject to the approval of the State Comptroller, and pursuant thereto an application was duly made to the Comptroller of the State of New York for approval of the proposed sewer improvement,
and

WHEREAS on the 30th day of January, 1973, the Comptroller of the State of New York duly approved said application with the maximum amount to be expended for such improvement to be limited to the sum of $1,044,000.00; and WHEREAS said application was based upon estimates of costs as of the year 1971 and since that time construction costs for such improvement have greatly increased; and WHEREAS, the maximum amount proposed to be expended is the sum of $2,000,000.00 based upon a wastewater facilities report prepared by A. Diachishin & Associates dated December, 1973, which said report is on file in the Town Clerk's Office
for public inspection;

NOW, on motion by Councilman Breitenbach and seconded by Councilman Smith, it is hereby ORDERED that the Town Board of the Town of Saugerties shall meet and hold a public hearing at Lawrence
M. Cahill School, Main St., Saugerties, N.Y., in said Town on the 22nd day of July, 1974, at 8:00 o'clock P.M. on that day to consider said report and the increase in costs shown therein and to hear all persons interested in the subject thereof concerning the same and to take such action thereon as is required or authorized by law.

The adoption of the foregoing order was duly put to a vote and upon roll call, the vote was as follows:
Supervisor Schovel voting Yes
Councilman Breitenbach voting Yes
Councilman Smith voting Yes
Councilman Gardner voting Yes
The order was thereupon declared duly adopted.

Dated: July 11, 1974
STATE OF NEW YORK

certify that I have compared the preceding resolution with the original thereof filed in my office at Saugerties, Ulster County, New York, and that the same is a true and correct copy of said original and the whole thereof.

I further certify that all members of the Town Board had due notice of the meeting at which said resolution was adopted and that said resolution was duly adopted on the 12th day of July, 1974.

Report Favors Dutchess

POUGHKEEPSIE
A state audit report has found virtually no fault in the administration of federal student aid programs and vocational education grants at Dutchess Community College.

In a report covering the period July, 1971 through June, 1973, the State Comptroller's Office stated that Dutchess "adhered to the prescribed Federal regulations and procedures for administering programs and grants."

However, the detailed report did recommend a change in the accounting system for one federal program and transfer of documents related to another account to a centrally located file for control and audit purposes.

Seven federal programs and 20 grants totaling $940,000 were included in the audit report.

The state auditors reviewed 18 grants the College administered under provisions of the Vocational Education Act of 1963, two mental health grants, and awards by the National Institute of Health and National Science Foundation.

All prescribed regulations and procedures for administering the grants were adhered to fully by the college, the auditors concluded.

Camp Set At Bard

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON
An International Seminar Camp, operated under the auspices of the Children's International Summer Villages, will utilize the facilities of the Bard College campus through August 3.

Some 35 teenagers from a number of foreign countries will participate in the program. The camp is designed to develop their interest in the world as a whole, and a sense of responsibility for its preservation.

The program will explore possibilities for individuals to increase their participation in shaping their own lives, and will give the teenagers an opportunity to learn about other international organizations in which they might work toward common goals.

In addition, the program offers an experience in group living designed to foster the exchange of ideas.

The group at Bard will be involved with seminars and panels, learning about each other's countries and lifestyles, and comparing their ideas about international issues. There will also be time for music, arts and crafts, games and athletics, as well as tours throughout the Hudson Valley. The camp will also publish its own newspaper.

Kickers Returning to Action

MORGAN HILL, his assistants have been interested in trying out for the Wednesday night practices at 7 p.m. The Kingston Kickers, instructed to give the local boys team is asked to contact Bob P.M. at the Chambers School suspended. The kickers, in the past several weeks, launch their youth movement with an exhibition game against the Ukrainians of the German-American Football Association Sunday at 4 p.m. at Oehler's Soccer Field.

The game is a prelude to the international contest with TSV Heilbronn-Biberach of West Germany on Friday, July 26, at 8 p.m. at Oehler's.

The team's new head coach, Robert Davis, will introduce 10 Ulster county players against Ukrainians. They will be supported by five holdover veterans from the Kicker varsity — all-time greats Winnie Soddemann and ex-coach Jim Reinhardt; Joel Tomson, Gil Buglio, Bernie Schaefer and Richie Bush.

Tomson and Jack Henderson will serve as assistant coaches.

Tony Elia of Saugerties heads the county contingent which also lists several former area high school and college stars, among them Sonny Roncancio, Phil Rutherford, Pete Fowler, Steve Davis, Fred Robinson, John Robinson, Jack Henderson, Eddie Hopp and Paul Kaldner, a native of England.

"We're going to give the local talent every opportunity to make the big team," said Kingston Sport Club president, Kurt Scherer. "Some of the veteran players will be on hand to give the newcomers guidance and assistance."

"We (the club officials) have decided to pin our future plans on Ulster county talent," Schoch emphasized. "Coach Davis and

Zena Wins Tennis Match

Zena Recreation Park's tennis team swept 10 of 12 matches to rout Red Hook Swim and Tennis Club 86-34 in an inter-club match. Each match consisted of 10 games, with one point awarded for each game won.

Zena won all the key matches, as Hank Sykes topped John Hunter in the No. 1 singles, 7-3. Judy Sykes defeated Eve Crispell in the women's singles, 9-1 and teamed with husband Hank to turn back Tony Paretta and Debbie Gustafson in mixed doubles.

Raj Bajaj and Don Furth of Zena polished off Hunter and Gustafson 6-4 in men's doubles.

Wiest, Miller Top Shooters

ST. REMY
Frak Wiest and Stu Miller were the winners at Wednesday night's Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club shoots.

Wiest led the trap shooters with 25 straight hits and a .960 score. Nick Mauro followed with .940.

Other top shooters were: Bill Costello, .920; Grover Ellsworth Sr., .893; Mike Nichols, .893; Tom Connor, .860; Stu Miller, .860; Karl Schouck, .840; and Bob Meuller, .830.

Miller won the skeet competition with a .920 total. Chet Joy and Grover Ellsworth Jr. tied for second with .880.

The Ulster County Circuit Shoot moves to Saugerties Fish and Game Club Sunday at 11 a.m.

Kurosawa Indicted

TOKYO (UPI) — Racing car driver Motoharu Kurosawa was indicted on a charge of involuntary manslaughter Wednesday as the result of an accident at the Fuji Speedway June 5 in which two drivers were killed and five spectators were injured.

The district prosecutor's office at Shizuoka City, 100 miles southwest of Tokyo, indicted Kurosawa, 34, in connection with an accident during the 187 mile Fuji Grand Championship race. Police claimed movies taken by a spectator showed Kurosawa deliberately rammed a car driven by Motoo Kitano in an effort to improve his position.

Macken Takes Lead

HICKSTEAD, England (UPI) — Young Irish rider Eddie Macken took a surprise lead after the speed test which opened the men's world show jumping championships at Hickstead Wednesday.

Macken, riding the 10-year-old Pele, had a faultless round over the 13-fence course, clocking 95.6 seconds.

Austria's Hugo Simon was second on Lavendal in 99.1 seconds, followed by West Germany's Hartwig Steenken, who clocked 101.3 seconds on Simoa.

7th Win for Mastro's; Tremper HR Total at 10

It was business as usual in the AAA Division of the City Softball League Wednesday night. Mastro Construction routed Wayside Inn 15-2 in a three and one-half inning "stopper" for their seventh straight win without a loss.

John Tremper blasted two home runs to increase his league total to 10. And Mastro's kept their record intact of never having extended the full seven innings this season.

Eleven homers were struck in the three games.

In another game, Buster's exploded for six home runs in a 21-7 rout of Bud's Subs. Dan Vogt, Dinky Dugan and Ernie Bodie each a pair of round trippers. Vogt hit his total to eight. Don Byrd hit one for Bud's, who suffered their second loss of the season and dropped two games behind Mastro's.

Beekman Arms nipped Pier Seven in extra innings 6-5, as Carl Bula knocked in three runs with a homer and single.

Tom Scary led Mastro's with a single and double. Ray Lindhorst lashed three singles for the winners. Bodie, George Bunt and Bob Murphy collected four hits each for Buster's. Kevin Adams, HR — Dinky Dugan (2), Ernie Bodie (2).

Pizzeria In Romp

KINGSTON

Tony's Pizzeria collected 22 hits to crush The Outrigger 22-0 in a four-inning Women's City Softball League. Bernice Jerry pitched five hit bats.

Nancy Chamberlain slammed a homer and two singles for Tony's. Mary Bittner had a double and two singles. Camille Lentz added a triple and two singles. Barbara Cohen and Audrey Johnson had three hits each.

Mary Pismopolus went on another batting rampage in the Roundout Valley Girls Softball League, slamming two home runs and two singles, as the Cream Puffs devoured the Lemon Fluffs 23-8.

Miss Pismopolus connected for a grand slam and three-run homer. Janice Slater hit two triples and Kathy Rooney had two doubles. Tommy Van Ahnen led the Fluffs with three singles. The win gave the Cream Puffs the league championship.

In the American Girls Softball League, Metz failed to get a hit off Peggy Kaizer but nevertheless managed a 7-6 squeaker win. The losers took hits off Lynn Bruck.

Dawn Josefski's double and Ami Amarello's single were the only hits in the game.

Angels Sell McCraw

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — The California Angels sold outfielder-first baseman Tom McCraw Wednesday to the Cleveland Indians in a straight cash deal.

In 56 games with the Angels this year, McCraw, 33, batted .286, hit three home runs and batted in 17 runs.

The Angels said they would call up Bruce Bochte from their Salt Lake City club later this week to replace McCraw. Bochte, 23, is the leading hitter of the Pacific Coast League with a .363 batting average.

Exploration of U-Boat Planned by Skindivers

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A group of skindivers plans to explore a Nazi U-boat in Long Island Sound that became a watery grave for 55 German sailors when it was sunk during World War II.

The wreckage of the boat, U-853, believed the last Nazi submarine sunk in the war, is located 30 miles offshore from Stonington, Conn.

It was sunk by U.S. depth charges on May 5, 1945, after it was located about seven miles off Block Island, R.I.

The descent to the vessel 120 feet below the surface will be made Sunday by six members of the Greater Hartford YMCA's Gillmen Club, William Cooper, club president, said members have never reached the submarine before, but in a determined effort to explore the vessel.

Safeway... New Prices Out On Shelves

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Safeway Stores, Inc., announced Wednesday it will no longer mark new prices on goods already on its shelves when prices go up.

Instead, said Safeway vice president John Bell, the chain will allow shoppers to buy items marked at the old price while replacing them at the new stock marked at the higher price as space becomes available.

If a price goes down, he said, a new price sticker will be added — and it will stay there even if the price goes back up again.

Bell said customers were confused and irritated at finding two or more price marks on an item.

Safeway, the largest-selling food chain in the country, operates 1,950 stores in 27 states.

Baby Survives 14-Story Plunge, Crash

CARACAS (UPI) — A two-year-old baby girl survived a 14-story plunge and a crash through the tin roof of a parking lot with no more than a ruptured blood vessel and shock.

Venezuelan doctors at Caracas' Coche emergency clinic said Wednesday that Ingrid Checha was out of danger and suffered no internal injuries in the 160-foot fall.

A parking lot attendant found the girl on top of a car in his lot after he heard something crashing through the roof.

The girl's father, tailor Luis Enrique Checha, said his daughter climbed on top of a bookcase to look out a window. But the window suddenly swung open and she fell out.

Youth Injured In Accident

EDDYVILLE — A 15-year-old Ulster Park youth was hospitalized Wednesday night after the motorcycle on which he was a passenger was in collision with an auto on Route 213 in Eddyville.

Taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance following the 7:20 p.m. crash was Barry Burnett of Box 317, Ulster Park. He was listed in fair condition at the hospital today. The operator of the motorcycle, Randall W. Burnett, 17, of Box 317, Ulster Park, was treated and discharged at the hospital for minor injuries.

State police said the motorcycle was in collision with a vehicle operated by Marilyn Playford of Kingston. No summonses were issued. No complete description of the mishap was immediately available.

Meanwhile, Ida Pang, 27, of 43 Millbrook Road, New Paltz, escaped serious injury early today in a one-car crash on the Thruway near milepost 91. She was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance following the 1 a.m. mishap and was treated and released.

Two Cottekill women were treated and released at Kingston Hospital Wednesday afternoon after sustaining injuries in a two-car crash on Washington Avenue in the city.

Injured in the crash were the driver of one of the vehicles, Phyllis M. Dewitt, 35, and a passenger in her auto, Virginia Dewitt, 18.

Their car was reportedly struck in the rear while making a left turn by an auto driven by Mark J. Provenzano, 20, of 6 South Washington Avenue, Kingston at about 12:40 p.m., according to police.

No summonses were issued in the mishap. Provenzano was not reported injured.

Dog Warden Appointed in Rosendale

ROSENDALE — Gary Stokes was appointed dog warden for the Town of Rosendale at a special meeting of the town board Wednesday night.

Stokes will serve for the remainder of the year. He replaces Arthur Fugazy, who resigned because of other business commitments.

In other action at Wednesday's meeting, the board approved a $25,000 allocation to repair 9.8 miles of town roads, and also to purchase two stone spreaders. Town Supervisor Richard Glazer said the money will probably be obtained through a tax anticipation note.

The town board, however, did not take any action on amending the town's junk car ordinance. That action was scheduled for Wednesday's meeting, but was delayed.

And, an ad hoc committee was appointed to work on the Senior Citizen's picnic, which will be held August 28. Town Justice Albert Morelli was named chairman of the committee.

BOND ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUTHORIZING THE CONSTRUCTION, REPAIRING AND ASPHALT PAVING OF CERTAIN CITY STREETS AND PORTIONS THEREOF IN SAID CITY STATING THE ESTIMATED TOTAL COST THEREOF, THE AMOUNT OF THE ISSUANCE OF $7,392.00 IN CAPITAL NOTES TO PROVIDE THE DOWNPAYMENT AND $137,000.00 IN SERIAL BONDS OF SAID CITY TO FINANCE THE BALANCE OF SAID APPROPRIATION.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The estimated total cost of reconstructing and resurfacing of the streets identified below or portions thereof and the asphalt paving of certain portions of streets identified below, constituting a single specific object or purpose, namely: repair and reconstruction of street and highway surfaces, for which including preliminary costs and costs incidental thereto, the estimated total cost is a total of $144,392.00 required for which the plan of financing includes the issuance of $7,392.00 in Capital Notes of said City to provide the downpayment and the balance of $137,000.00 to be financed by the issuance of the Serial Bonds of said City and the City of Kingston to pay the principal of and the interest on said bonds as the same shall become due and payable.

a. St. James Street between Clinton Avenue and First Street at an estimated cost of $35,520.00.

b. Cornell Street from Broadway to Smith Avenue at an estimated cost of $32,000.00.

The City of Kingston, in the County of Ulster, New York, is hereby authorized to asphalt plane or cause the asphalt paving of existing roadway surfaces, planning or shoving the surface irregularities out of the existing bituminous pavement producing smooth surfaces and, where necessary, predetermining grades and the planned and finished surfaces shall be free from gouges, grooves, ridges, sooting, oil film and other imperfections in the process known as asphalt paving and for which the 1974 asphalt paving project shall be as follows:

a. Broadway between Wall Street and Stuyvesant Street, a minimum two inch removal and a surface measuring approximately 14,000 square yards at an estimated cost of $30,520.00.

b. East Chester Street between Broadway and Hemlock Avenue, a minimum of one inch removal and a surface measuring approximately 6,000 square yards at an estimated cost of $6,720.00.

c. Albany Avenue between Penn Central Railroad Overpass and Manor Avenue, a minimum of one inch removal and a surface measuring approximately 12,000 square yards at an estimated cost of $13,664.00.

SECTION 2. Pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the consolidated Laws of the City of New York, Capital Notes in the principal amount of $7,392.00 and Serial Bonds in the principal amount of $137,000.00 of said City of Kingston are hereby authorized to be issued to finance the total cost of said specific object or purpose.

SECTION 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of each item of said specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued within the limitations of Section 11.00 a, subdivision 20 of said Local Finance Law, is ten (10) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the Serial Bonds herein authorized or any Bond Anticipation Notes issued in anticipation of said Bonds, and such current funds will be provided by the issuance of $7,392.00 in Capital Notes authorized by this Ordinance. The City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to set aside the proceeds of the sale of said Capital Notes and to apply the same solely to said specific object or purpose as described in Section 1 hereof.

SECTION 4. Each of the notes and bonds authorized by this Ordinance shall be subject to the provisions of Section 52.00 of the Local Finance Law and said Notes and Bonds and any Serial Bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general fund upon all the taxable real property within the City without limitation as to rate of tax. The tax and interest on said Notes and Bonds and interest on said Bonds shall be a lien in favor of the City of Kingston upon all the taxable real property within the City and shall be irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal and interest on said Notes and Bonds and interest on said Bonds in full within the budget of the City by appropriation for said purpose.

(a) The amortization and redemption of the bonds to mature in such year, and

(b) The payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

SECTION 5. Subject to the provisions of the Local Finance Law and pursuant to the provision of Section 52.00 of the Local Finance Law, the issuance of the notes and bonds of said City of Kingston, and the provisions of Section 56.00 of said Law and the provisions of the Local Finance Law, shall be subject to the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

By Oswald &amp; James Jacoby

There are none so blind as they who will not see. Today's West appears to have been outstanding in that respect.

His blindness started with the bidding. He didn't have even one jack in his hand, but he wasn't vulnerable and he did hold 11 cards in two suits and a void in spades.

Probably he should have bid right away over South's four-spade bid. Certainly he should have acted after East doubled four spades. A four-notrump call at that spot would clearly have asked East to bid a suit. It could not be Blackwood. East would have obliged with five diamonds and made either five or six depending on the opening lead.

Anyway, West passed and opened a club. East won and promptly led the nine of diamonds.

At this point West's blindness really showed up. He did not see that East had made a very unusual play and that he had a chance to win the trick with his 10 spot and lead a club to give East a ruff and set the contract. He just let East hold the trick.

After this there was no defense. South lost a trick to the ace of trumps, but that was all.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first wartime conscription bill in the United States was passed March 3, 1863, and required men from 20 to 45 years of age to enroll by April 1, 1863. The World Almanac notes that exemptions could be obtained by paying draft officials $300, or by furnishing a substitute. This allowance led to draft riots in New York City in which some 1,000 persons died from July 13-16. Purchased draft exemptions were abolished July 4, 1864.

Charge Hoover Blackmailed Presidents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high FBI official handed an assistant attorney general secret wiretap records in July, 1971, for fear J. Edgar Hoover might use them to blackmail President Nixon as he had "used wiretap information to blackmail other Presidents."

The story came to light today in five volumes of evidence published by the House Judiciary Committee before it begins debate next week on whether Nixon's conduct in office warrants impeachment.

The new evidence traces how political spying developed in the White House—using the same personnel and techniques—from elaborate machinery set up to combat news leaks of sensitive national security matters.

So deep was Nixon's concern with the leaks, a newly published tape transcript shows, that at one time he considered ordering lie detector tests for 400,000 government workers who had "top secret" clearance.

But the big surprise in the 2,314 pages of evidence came in a sworn statement given FBI agents on May 10, 1973, by Robert Mardian, the former assistant attorney general and once a high official in the Nixon re-election campaign. Mardian has been indicted in the Watergate cover-up conspiracy.

Mardian told how William Sullivan, Hoover's deputy at the FBI, came to him in July, 1971, and said he feared he was going to be fired because of policy differences with Hoover. Sullivan said he wanted to pass along Mr. Sullivan's information and request. There was no elaboration from Mardian in the statement about Sullivan's view that Hoover had blackmailed Presidents. But Hoover, who had held the FBI directorship since the 1920s, had long been regarded before his death as potentially one of the most powerful men in Washington because of his access to all the FBI secrets.

"Mr. Sullivan continued the conversation, saying that Mr. Hoover had used wiretap information to blackmail other Presidents of the United States and was afraid that he could blackmail Mr. Nixon with this information."

"Mr. Sullivan reiterated his request of Mr. Mardian to personally contact the President of the United States and to information and request."

In the statement, Mardian told the FBI he subsequently learned "that this wiretap was ordered by Dr. Henry Kissinger on behalf of the President."

Mardian went to John N. Mitchell, long a close associate, and a short time later was ordered to take the White House shuttle plane to San Clemente, Calif.

The next morning, he said, Nixon ordered him to take the wiretap data from Sullivan—and then make sure that it matched information already in the White House.

The FBI said Mardian said Kissinger and he checked the FBI records against the White House's "and satisfied themselves that Dr. Kissinger's material matched with the cover sheet which Mr. Mardian was using."

Mardian was asked if he gave the bag containing the wiretap data to Nixon. "He sat back in his chair, shrugged his shoulders, hesitated and said, 'I cannot answer that question,'" the report said.

The SALT taps were only one group of five separate wiretap incidents detailed in the Judiciary Committee evidence.

President, Aides to Meet

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon, concerned in recent days mostly with the economy, turns his attention today to other problems, including the possibility he may be impeached.

Political advisor Dean Burch, who has been monitoring impeachment talk in Washington, planned to meet with Nixon today at the oceanside Western White House. Aides said they would be discussing "a number of problems," indicating impeachment would probably be discussed.

Secretary of State Henry A.

Kissinger, who has been on the telephone to Nixon frequently over the Cyprus crisis, was scheduled to arrive tonight, as was Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and Kenneth Cole, executive director of the Domestic Council.

Nixon, after talking to Kissinger Wednesday, dispatched Undersecretary of State Joseph Sisco to London to talk with British and Turkish officials in an effort to prevent conflict between Turkey and Greece over Cyprus.

Burch and the President's chief legislative assistant, William Timmons, are keeping the President posted on the mood of the House Judiciary Committee Saturday, indicated the major thrust of the administration's anti-inflation program would be in a drive to control federal spending and balance the fiscal 1976 budget.

The President, who is planning to deliver a major speech on the economy next week, planned to meet Friday with budget director Roy Ash, economic counselor Kenneth Rush, Stein and Cole.

ACCUSATIONS—Bruce Herchensohn, deputy special assistant to President Nixon, in a news conference, accused the television networks, several prominent newspapers, magazines and some individual newsmen of a liberal bias and said they sometimes distort the news against President Nixon. Herchensohn specifically attacked CBS, NBC, ABC, The New York Times, the Washington Post, Time and Newsweek magazines and named CBS newsmen Walter Cronkite, Dan Rather, Roger Mudd, Marvin Kalb and Daniel Schorr as examples of liberal journalists biased against the President. ## 'Would Do It Again'... Butterfield

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A year and a day after he began the great tapes controversy by revealing that the White House was bugged, Alexander Butterfield said he does not regret it and would do it again.

Butterfield, now head of the Federal Aviation Administration, said Wednesday he had made up his mind at the time that if Watergate probes asked "the direction question," he would reveal the existence of the taping system.

"I was not at all reluctant, as has been printed in some newspapers," Butterfield said, about it," he said. "But I knew

"I would certainly do the same thing again."

Butterfield had been in charge of internal security at the White House before going to the FAA job.

Talking to reporters following a speech to a group of airport managers, he recalled his questioning by the Senate Watergate committee staff, when he revealed the existence of the tape system. It was supposed to pick up everything said in the Oval Office and on presidential telephones and in offices of the Executive Office Building.

"I didn't go in to tell them about it," he said. "But I knew that if ever they asked the direct question, I would answer directly and openly."

"It was about a four-hour and 45-minute session that Friday afternoon, the 13th of July last year and it was in the last half hour that they got around to that."

"They asked a question that was approaching a direct question and I sort of waffled. Then they asked the direct question, and I answered it." Three days later, on the 16th, Butterfield was called before the televised session of the Watergate committee and made the revelation public, beginning the controversy.

Although his revelation of the system brought mounting series of problems and legal battles to President Nixon, it has not soured his relationship with Nixon, Butterfield said.

A Rough Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's dependent draft audit showing been a tough week for City that last December, the city had $40 million more in the records showed.

First, it was revealed that the controller's $5.4 million in securities was missing from a vault in the city controller's office.

Then a rash of reports surfaced, painting a picture of fiscal mismanagement at the highest levels of city government.

They included: — report that $3.95 million in securities could not be accounted for in December 1971.

— The revelation that a faulty computer in the Human Resources Administration issued $7.5 million in welfare checks to persons taken off the relief rolls.

— The disclosure of an in-

The reports all came to light this week and, as baffled officials tried to learn exactly what happened in each case, the city added to its financial woes Wednesday by borrowing $800 million in short-term funds at the highest interest rate for such issues in the city's history.
